Dr. Jacob Haught
Washington County Veterinary Service
Abingdon, Virginia

As a 30-year veterinarian, Dr. Jacob Haught has treated animals for just about everything. One common challenge in cow/calf operations is pneumonia. He uses and recommends Nuflor[®] as the first drug in treating respiratory disease. Dr. Haught reports that Nuflor gets better results than other antibiotics. And when he dispenses it, he feels clients are safer than with some other products. Dr. Haught and his clients have been using Nuflor ever since it came on the market. See your veterinarian for more information.
